

Business Support Packages

Leadership Coaching

Not often do small business owners have the opportunity to spend time developing themselves and/or their key staff.

This package is delivered by a trained and accredited HR Consultant through the completion of three online assessments, followed by coaching sessions to assist the individual to understand their behavioural and communication style and their interactions with others.

Specific coaching is provided on how to work on areas which would benefit from further development.

Package includes:

1. DISC – a globally recognised assessment which explains how a person responds to problems and challenges, people and contact, pace and consistency and procedures and constraints
2. Driving Forces – looks at a person’s motivations as to why and how a person moves into action and the subconscious impact of these forces on decision making
3. Emotional Quotient (EQ) – measures an individual’s self-awareness and their ability to actively manage their emotional state and that of others
4. Personalised and comprehensive profile reports on each of the three assessments
5. Initial meeting and explanation of the personal assessments and agreed areas for coaching
6. 3 X 1 hour coaching sessions and workbook material
